Crooked Lake offers the small communities of Conway and Oden, both of which were historical jumping on or jumping off points on the Inland Waterway. These communities are little more than a stone's throw to Petoskey, which although not on the waterway itself, was by many considered the "end" located at the site of a fish hatchery that operated from 1921-

Mullett Lake features the communities of Aloha on the east side and Topinabee on the west side. The mouth of the Cheboygan River and Mullett Lake features a large sandbar that is ideal for dropping anchor and jumping in for a swim. It is also the location of “Music at the Mouth,” where bands play available at the communities for stocking up on provisions or
